

Positions through triangulating

“the definition of a door”

Dictionary

Definitions from Oxford Languages · Learn more door

/dɔː/

noun

a hinged, sliding, or revolving barrier at the entrance to a building, room, or vehicle, or in the framework of a cupboard.

"she looked for her key and opened the door"

Sketch2.

“A is not always for Apple”

A is for test level.

"A represents an exam grade. You have to study very hard in order to achieve the best result. Although the process is tough, you will definitely feel happy when you finally get that result."

GAME

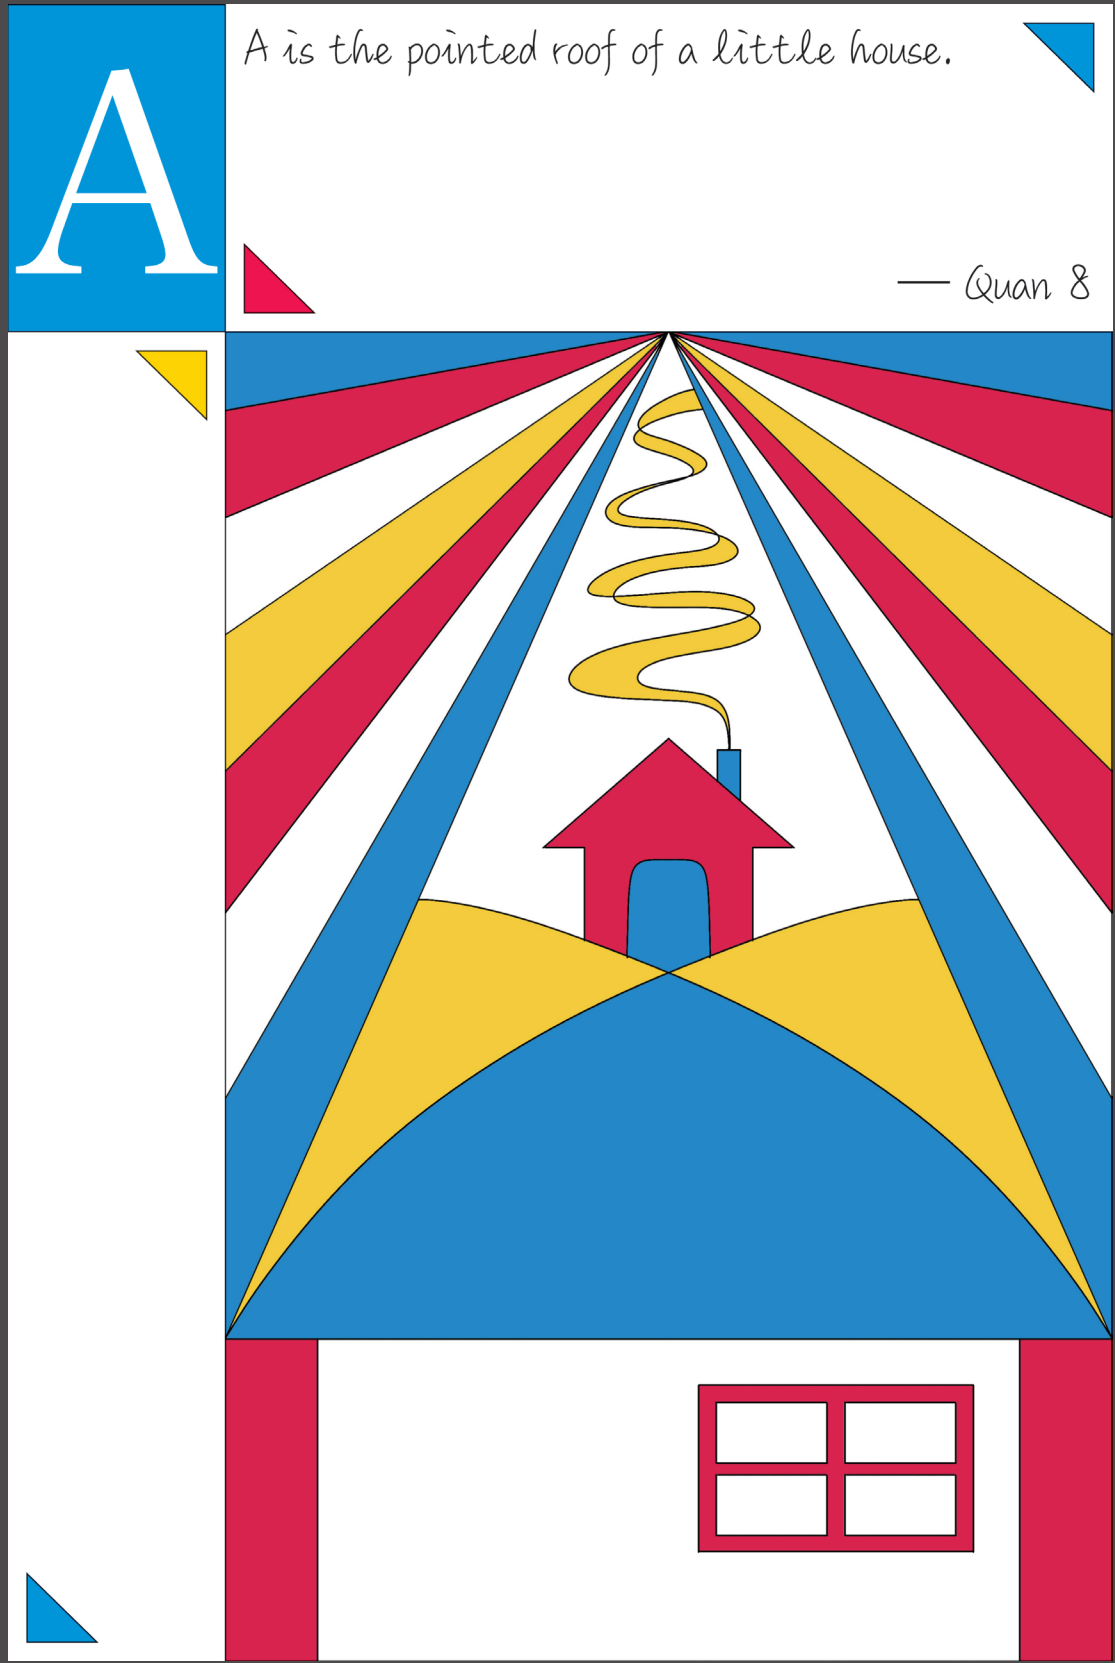

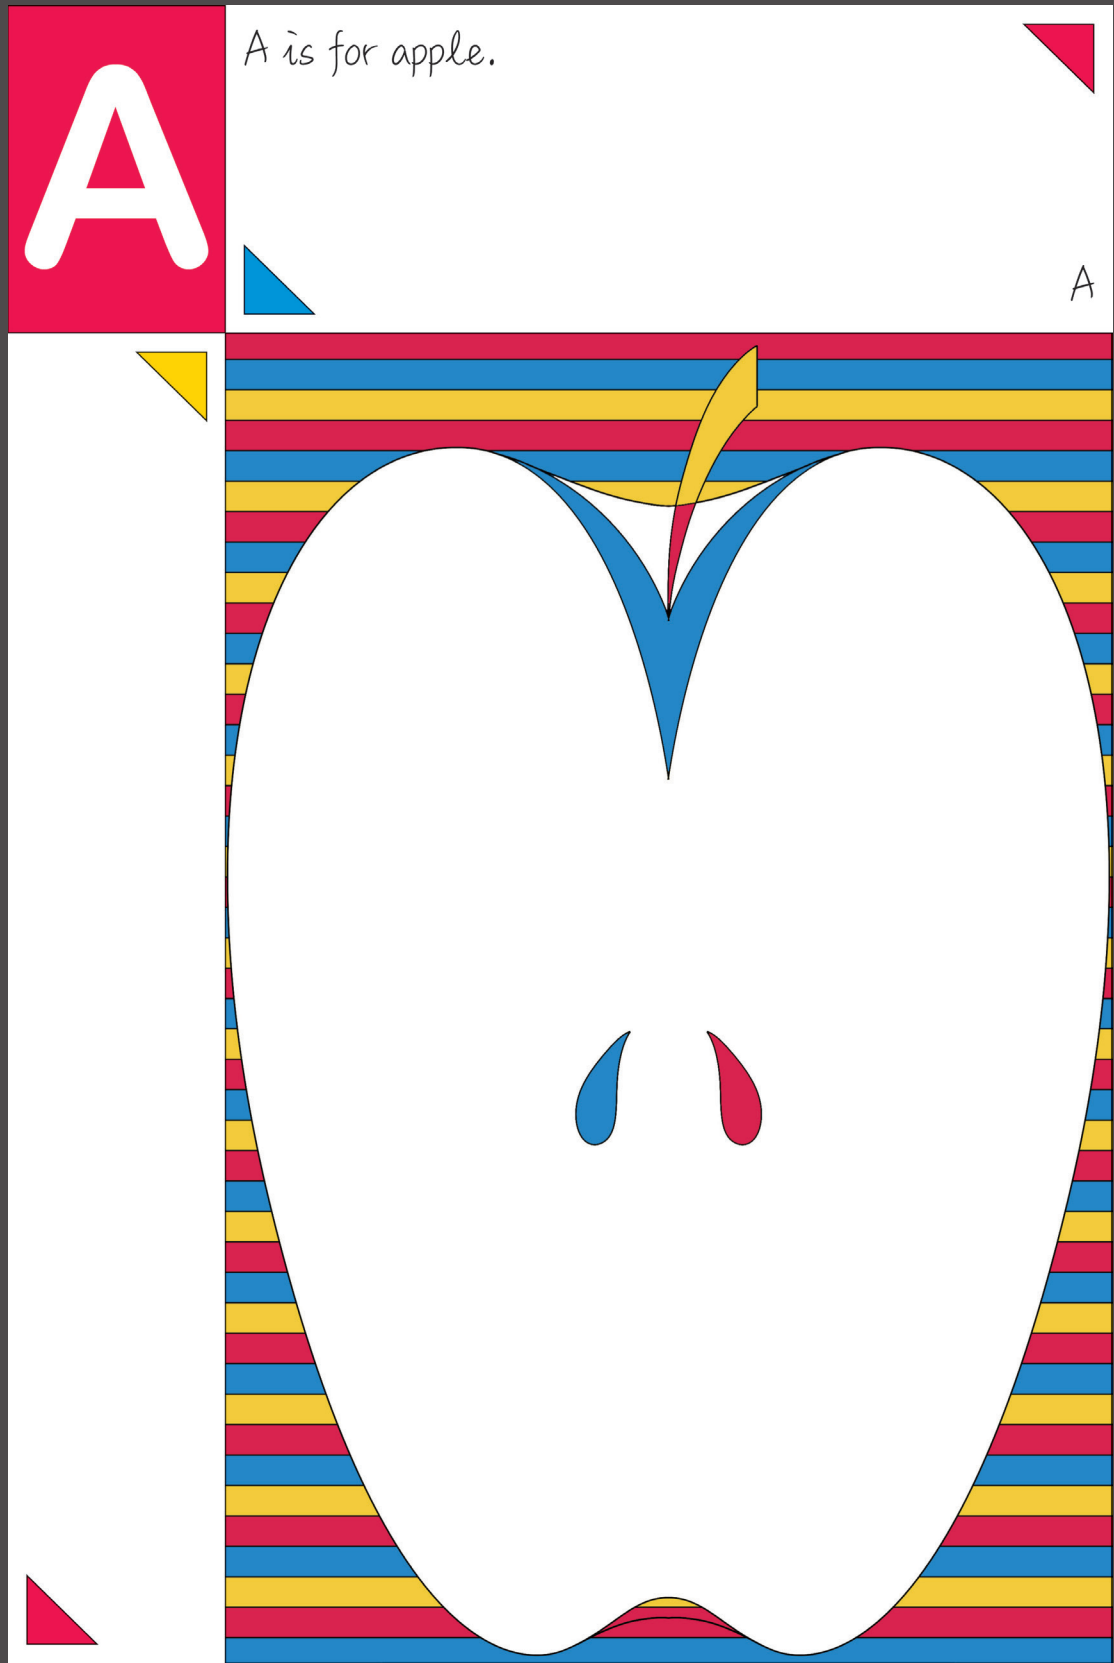

High school was the most exhausting period of my life. Every day I woke up at 6 a.m. to attend classes, and stayed at school until 8:30 in the evening. After the night lessons ended, I still had to finish piles of homework, often working until midnight. It was so tiring that whenever I had a spare moment, I could fall into deep sleep almost instantly. But in order to get good results in the exams, everyone around me seemed to push themselves in the same way.

I am not willing to recall those years, yet I have to admit that the experience gave me stronger resilience under pressure. I remember how desperately I wanted to achieve an "A-level" ranking. Compared with the whole city of students, my ability was limited, and I never really reached an A. Still, the pursuit of "A" shaped me deeply, and the struggle of those three years will stay with me for the rest of my life.

test level

- Chinese
- Mathematics
- English
- History
- Geography
- Politics

A

A is the grade on a quiz — I wish every test result could be an A.

— Zilu 14

A

A is “abandon,” always the first word in the vocabulary book.

— Zirui 16

A

A is ànlǎn (secret crush) — everyone has had a crush, right?

— Yilan 16

A

A is “Ah?” — that confused sound when you don’t know or aren’t sure.

— Yizhuo 17

A

A is the subway exit. The nearest one to my home is Exit A — I pass through it every day.

— Mengyuan 24

A

A is AI — I need AI to help me with many things. These days, everyone uses AI for work.

— Yumo 24

A

A is the work team. In our company's marketing department, there are two teams, and we often compare our results with Team A.

— Yalun 24

A

A is “āyī” (auntie). Kids now call me auntie instead of sister — does that mean I’m getting old?

— Xuan 23

A

A is the apartment building — in the new housing complex, Building A is the most expensive.

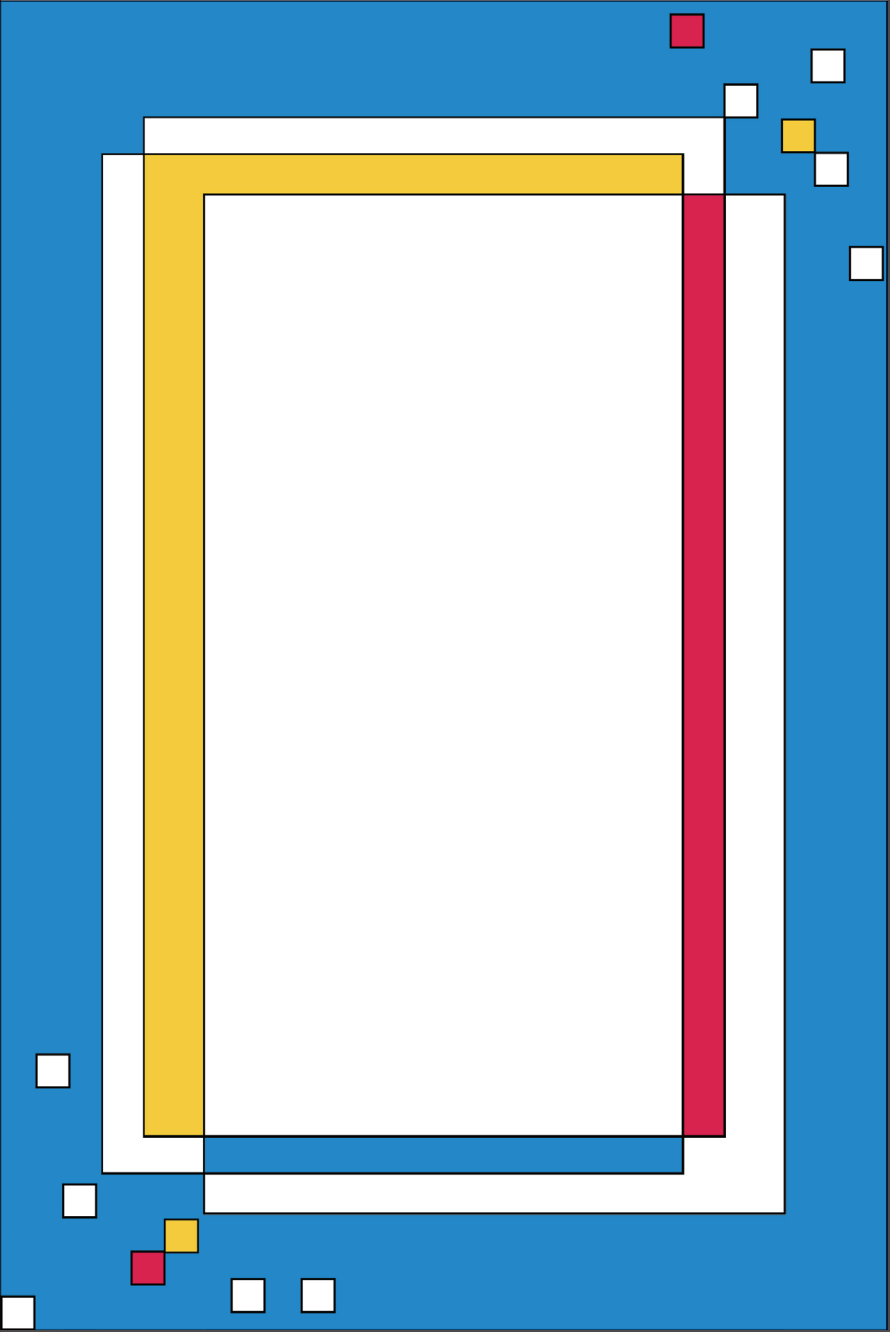

— Qian 44

A stylized illustration of several apartment buildings. The buildings have white facades and are topped with red and yellow roofs. They are arranged in a cluster, with some buildings partially overlapping others. The background is white, and the entire illustration is framed by a blue border on the left and bottom.

A

A is the “Section A” clause in an insurance contract.

— Lingling 47

A stylized illustration of a large white rectangle with a blue border. The rectangle is centered within a larger blue frame. There are small yellow and red squares scattered around the rectangle, and a yellow triangle in the top right corner of the blue frame.

A

A is the shape of the overpass I drive across on the way to work in the morning.

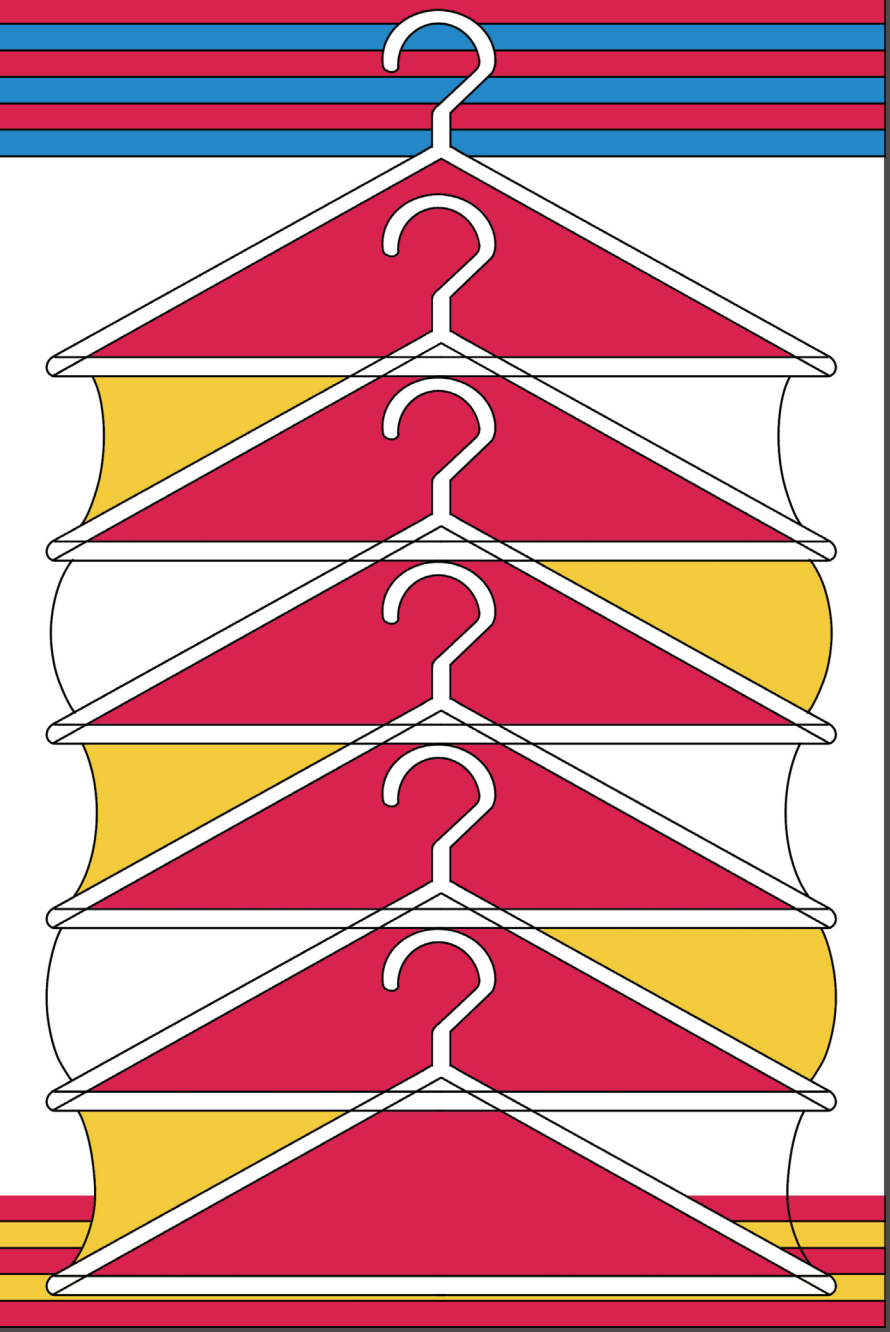

— Jing 55

A stylized illustration of a yellow background with blue and red curved lines. The lines are thick and curved, creating a sense of movement and depth. The lines are arranged in a way that suggests the shape of an overpass or a road.

A

A is the clothes-drying rack — housework, everyday life.

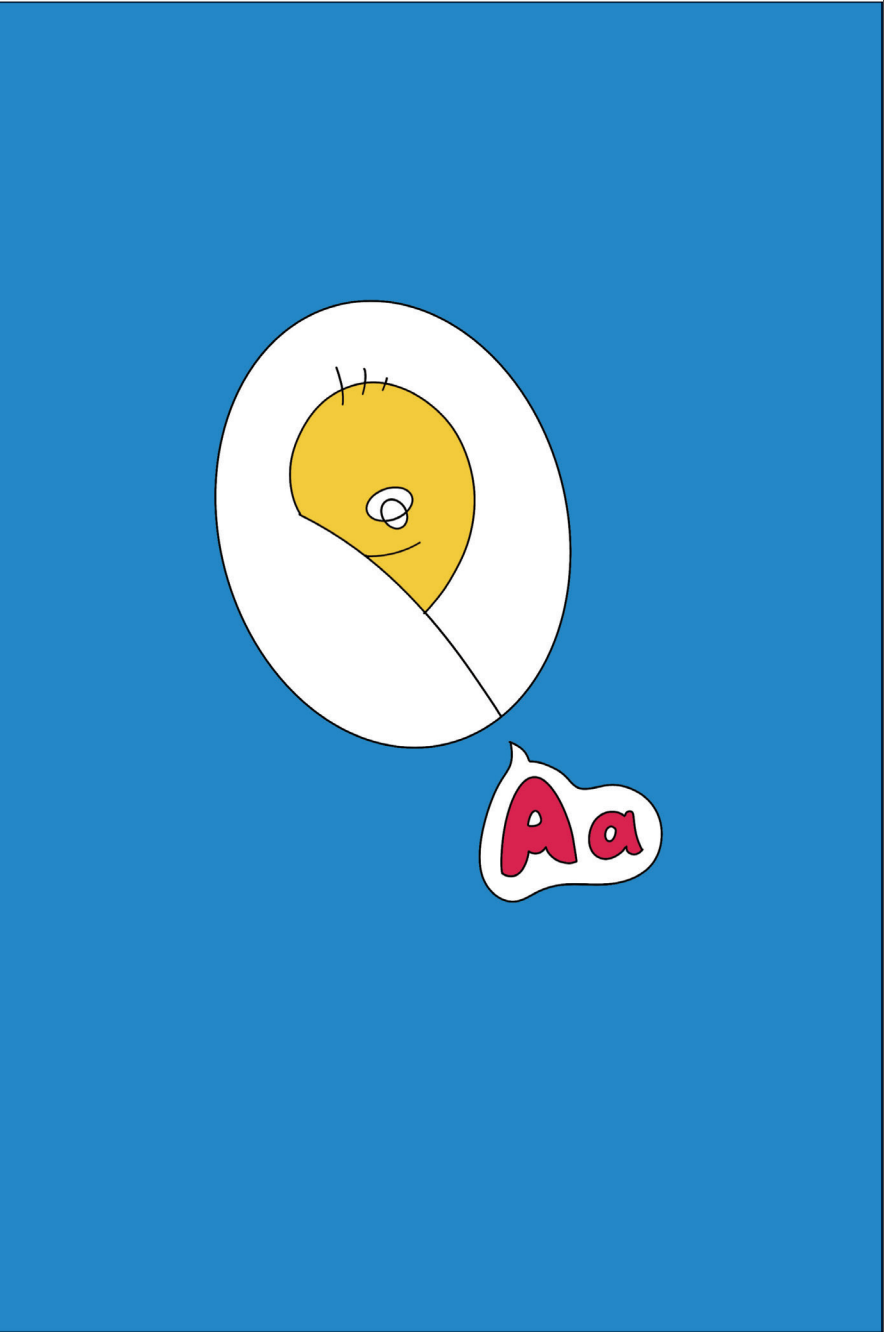

— Junyu 56

A stylized illustration of a clothes-drying rack. The rack is white and has several red and yellow clothes hanging from it. The clothes are represented by simple shapes, and the rack is set against a white background with a blue border on the left and bottom.

A

A is my granddaughter's first word: "Ah—".

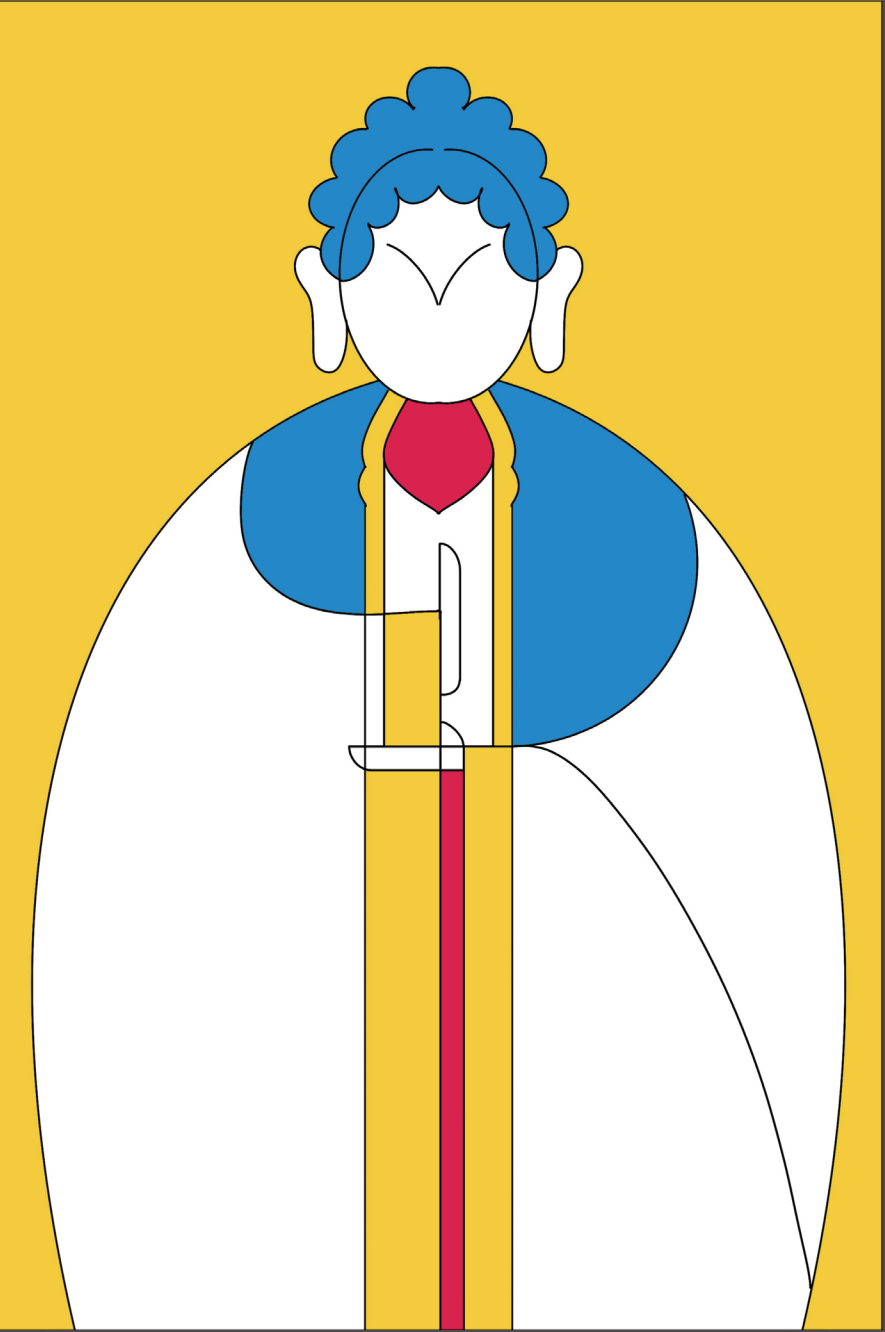

— Shuyu 76

A

A is "Āmítuófó" (Amitabha, a Buddhist prayer).

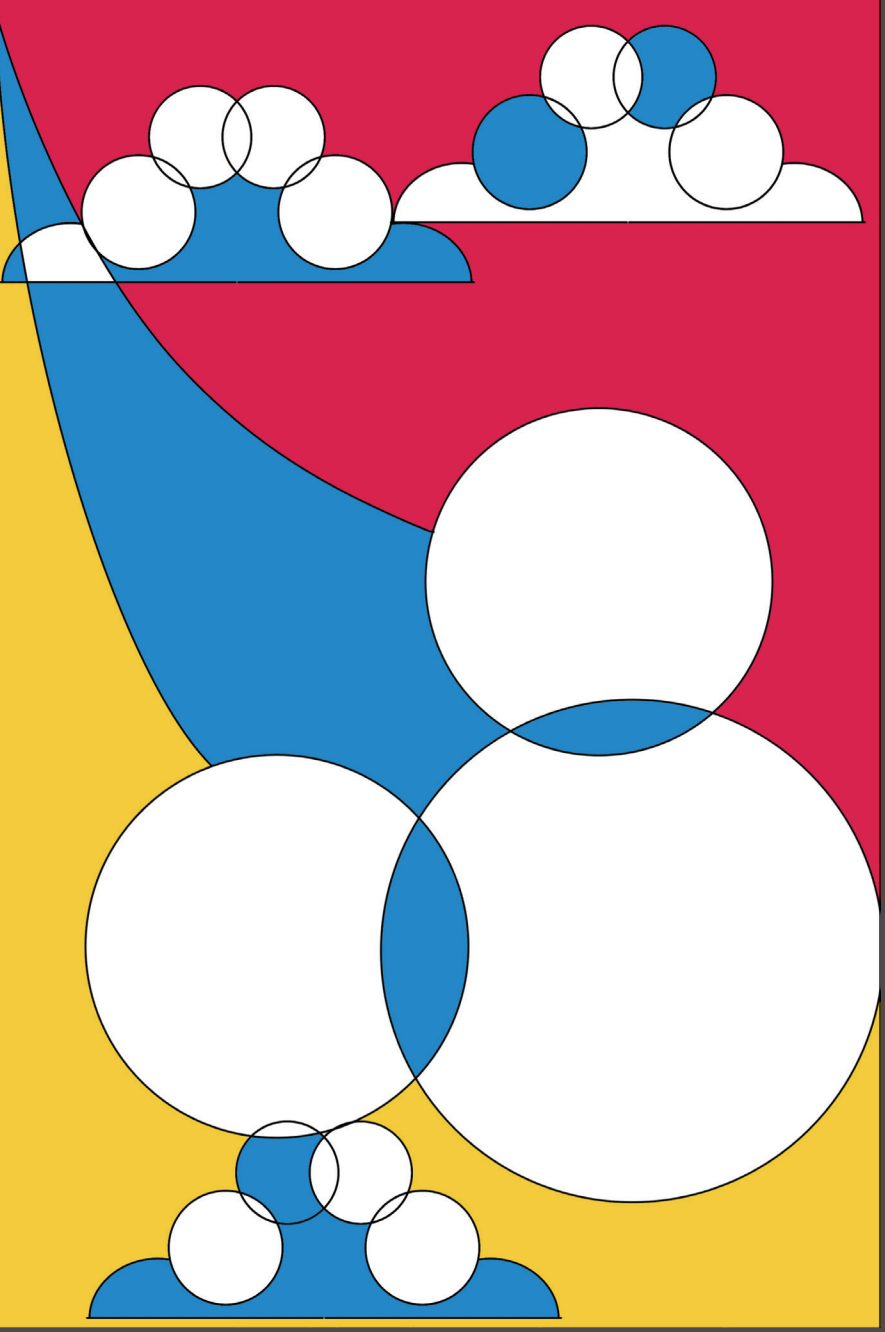

— Xi 77

A

A is... "āi..." (a sigh).

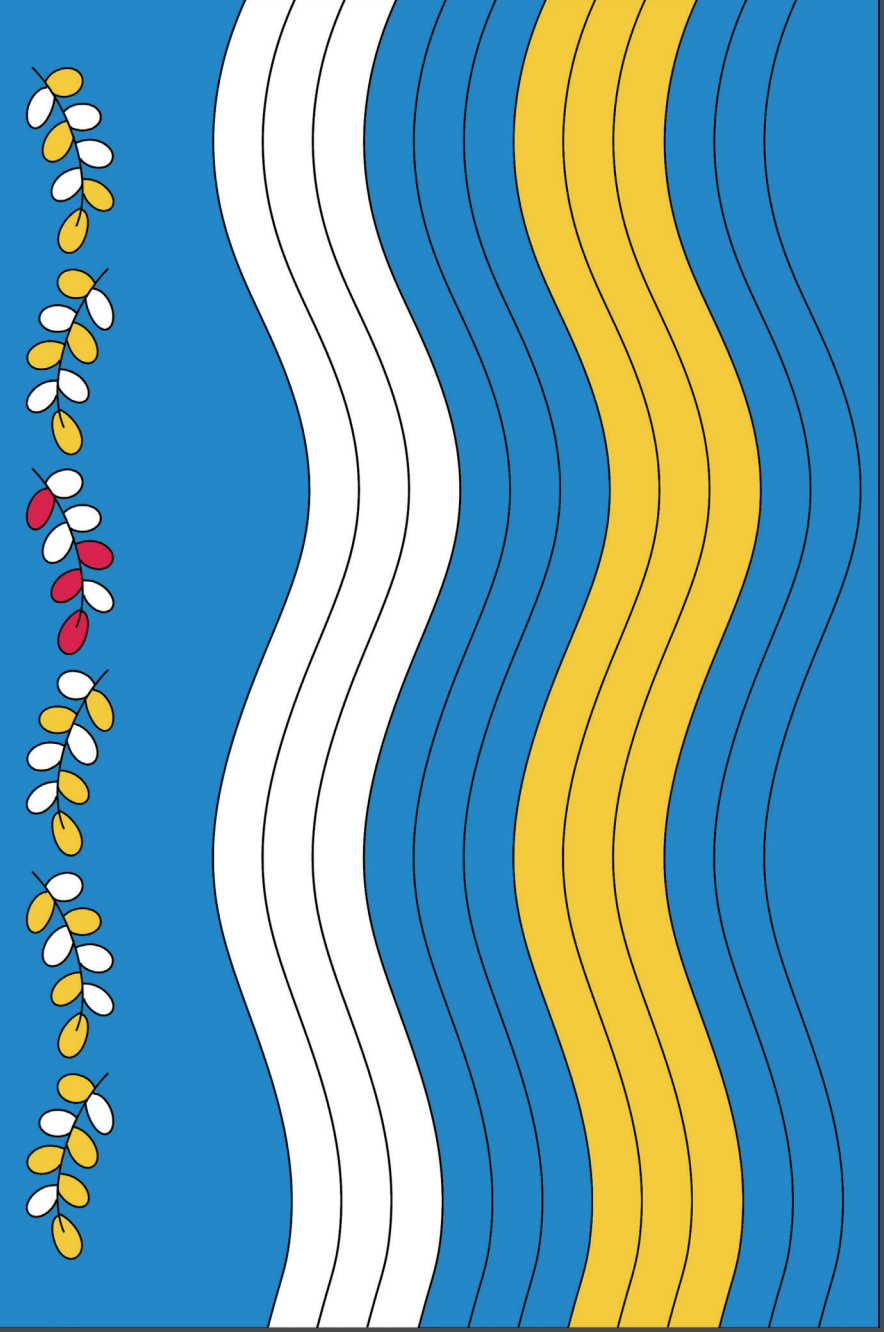

— Zhongrong 80

A

A is "ānjìng" — peace and quiet, that is enough.

— Qingfa 81

A is for apple.	A is the grade on a quiz — I wish every test result could be an A.	A is the subway exit. The nearest one to my home is Exit A — I pass through it every day.	A is the apartment building — in the new housing complex, Building A is the most expensive.	A is my granddaughter’s first word: “Ah—”.
A	— Zilu 14	— Mengyuan 24	— Qian 44	— Shuyu 76
A is the pointed roof of a little house.	A is “abandon,” always the first word in the vocabulary book.	A is AI — I need AI to help me with many things. These days, everyone uses AI for work.	A is the “Section A” clause in an insurance contract.	A is “Āmítuófó” (Amitabha, a Buddhist prayer).
— Quan 8	— Zirui 16	— Yumo 24	— Lingling 47	— Xi 77
A is the open mouth making the sound "ah~".	A is ànlǐàn (secret crush) — everyone has had a crush, right?	A is the work team. In our company’s marketing department, there are two teams, and we often compare our results with Team A.	A is the shape of the overpass I drive across on the way to work in the morning.	A is… “āi…” (a sigh).
— Miaomiao 8	— Yilan 16	— Yalun 24	— Jing 55	— Zhongrong 80
A is a slide you can climb up and slide down.	A is “Ah?” — that confused sound when you don’t know or aren’t sure.	A is “āyī” (auntie). Kids now call me auntie instead of sister — does that mean I’m getting old?	A is the clothes-drying rack — housework, everyday life.	A is “ānjìng” — peace and quiet, that is enough.
— Yudi 8	— Yizhuo 17	— Xuan 23	— Junyu 56	— Qingfa 81

